COLORADO AND GILA VALLEYS.

In the valleys of the Colorado and Gila rivers there is room for thousands. It is not too much to say that newhere within the limits of this broad union can be found a more desirable region for the making of a home. No laberious dearing of the hand is required; it lies almost ready for the piow. Trees and sheubbery haves orapid a growth that within chatteen menths the immigrant can surround his abode with attractions which would require years to undure in less favored climates. Fruits ripen and arready for the market a full month before the California products. The bright smishine makes life a luxury, and the pire dry atmosphere brines health to all who inhale it. For the establishment of colonies, such as are made in Southern California. Arizona presents intrivated opportunities. Thousands of acres not profiless can be made productive by the construction of irricating ditches, and there is an investment which assures harger and more permanent return.

The statements in this article only una county are not cangigranted; in fact they fall short of doing justice to this wonderful bit of conatry Phinepoples, dates, almonds and walmus will do well. Strawberries, rapperries, blackberries, of a which to sattle.

The soil of these valleys is among the riche of channel, the deposit of this rich vegetable matter has formed a soil of extreme fertility. Near the streams it is a dark alluvial mold, well adapted to small grains and grasses. Farther back there is a rich sandy loam, mellow and porous, and especially favorable for fruit culture. It has been already demonstrated that the productive capacity of these valleys is not surpassed by lands of equal area in any part of the United States. So rapid and profite is the growth of the fruits, cereans and vegetables that the labor of the cultivator is reduced to the minimum. In nearly all of them two crops a year can be grown and vegetation is one mouth head of California. The farmer plants a cotton wood sapiling before its door, and within the year be has a shade true twenty-five feet high. Alialita can be cut six times during the season, and it is an ectual fact that grape cuttings have produced within elasteen months! What state or territory can make such a showing? The climate, it dust be remembered is nearly perpetual summer. Snow never fails in these southern valleys. The furmer begins to plant in November, and by the middle of May his harvest's ready. Roses are in bloom, fruit trees are blooming, and the grain fields are a sea of green, when the fields of the Eastern farmers are covered with snow and ice.

Every variety of grains, grasses, fruits and former giving from eight to ten tens to the acre cach year. Every variety of vegetable rafectin the United States can be grown in Autzom, and nowhere are they found of better quality.

"Besides the products mentioned, these semi-tropical valleys produce couton, sugar-cane, to bacco, hemp and rice. With the exception of the segar-cane, but little attention is paid to the cultivation of other staples, but it has been demonstrated that the soil and elimate are specially adapted to their successful growth. Culton-growing is no experiment in Arizona, for it is on record that when the Europeansiest penetrated this region, they found the Pima Indians wearing fabries made of culton grown in the Gliu valley.

"But it is their adaptability for fruit culture that assures to these vailey lands a dense pop-
